

Petition to the President of the United States, the Congress, the FDA, the EPA and the USDA

Whereas, genetically engineered foods have been rapidly brought to market;

Whereas, genetically engineered foods are currently being sold without labeling;

Whereas, opinion polls indicate the majority of citizens of the USA want to know if their foods have been genetically engineered for various health, environmental, moral and religious reasons;

Therefore, it is resolved, we the undersigned request that genetically engineered foods be labeled as such, regardless of whether the foods are in their whole form or contained as ingredients in processed foods.

To this end, we want to register our support for all legislative and administrative measures that will mandate the clear labeling of all genetically engineered foods sold for human consumption, including the Genetic Engineered Foods Right to Know Act, also known as Bills HR 3377 and S 2080 in the US House of Representatives and the US Senate, respectively.

November 3, 2000

Commissioner Jane Henney
Food and Drug Administration
5630 Fishers Lane
Rockville, MD 20857

Dear Commissioner Henney,

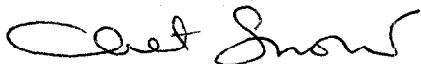

As a concerned citizen and health care professional, I am writing to request that the FDA require the mandatory labeling of all genetically engineered foods, regardless of whether the food is in its whole form or as an ingredient in processed foods.

I recently had the opportunity to address this issue at two public meetings (whose topics were NOT directly related to this issue) and had the privilege of circulating the enclosed petition to the audiences present. I hereby forward the original of these petitions to you as the Federal Agency most directly concerned with this issue. Copies have been sent to the President, members of Congress, the EPA and USDA. You are receiving the originals.

These names represent but a small sample of concerned Americans who want their voices heard. Even though neither of these meetings was called to address genetically-engineered foods, 75% of those present took the time to sign these petitions requesting mandatory food ingredient labeling. This is consistent with opinion polls that show an overwhelming majority of Americans (81% in a 1999 Time magazine poll) consider it logical and right to be fully informed before they buy food for themselves and their families.

We hereby request that the FDA require all genetically engineered foods and ingredients be labeled. Please act immediately. Thank you!

Sincerely,

Chet B. Snow
